

Musket Raffle

The Friends of Fort Dobbs invite you to participate in a raffle for a fully functioning replica of a .75 flintlock musket.

The 1728 Long Land Pattern was one type of firelock issued to British troops during the French and Indian War.

Other prizes include a signed copy of the new book North Carolina in the French and Indian War by Dr. John Maass and a handcrafted wooden candle stand with glass globe by artisan George Matthews.

All proceeds from the event will help support educational programming and events!

Tickets are on sale now! The raffle will be on Sunday, April 13, at 2:30 pm, during Fort Dobbs State Historic Site's annual War for Empire event.
